

Duration: 40 mins

Course level: Introductory

Delivery method: Online

Introduction

In today's multicultural society, it is essential for all managers and HR professionals to understand the laws relating to racial equality in the work place.

Race Legislation guides you through the key legislation relating to racial discrimination. This course can help your business meet its legal, social and moral responsibilities – and offer equal opportunities to all, regardless of race, colour, ethnicity or national origin.

Who is the course for?

This course is appropriate for anybody who manages people or has responsibility for recruitment and selection. There are no formal entry requirements, but the course is most suitable for people who have some experience of general employment law and would like to develop more specialist knowledge.

What will you get from this course?

When you have completed this course, you will be able to:

- ensure employee behaviour and employment policies do not contravene UK laws relating to racial discrimination
- promote a culture of equal opportunity, regardless of race.

Course features

Race Legislation uses audio and on-screen summary text. It includes simple interactive exercises with immediate feedback to guide you through the basics of the subject.

At the end of the course, a multiple choice test is provided to check your knowledge and understanding. You can take the test as many times as you like.

You can start the course at any time, providing you have access to a computer with an internet connection. The course is available for six months from the date first accessed.

Other courses you might be interested in

Age Awareness
Absence Management

Employment Law

Course code: 103080BT005

Ufi Ltd October 2007. All rights reserved. learndirect is a registered trademark of Ufi Ltd. All information correct at time of going to press.